When asked how we should pray, Jesus teaches the “Our Father”

Lord teach us to pray. If someone asked this of a faith leader, you might get a long list of possibilities based on different tastes, cultures and trends. Millions of books have been written on prayer, how to pray, what method to use, what attitude one should have etc.

But Jesus gives his disciples a very direct response, actual words that they should recite.

In Jesus’ time there were many rabbis who would have certain prayers for their followers to say, almost as a way of identifying their group.

The Lord’s prayer is the prayer of Jesus’ disciples, so it is our prayer too. It is a prayer of identity for Christians.

After teaching the Lord’s prayer, Jesus tells the story about a man whose friend goes to him at midnight looking for bread for another friend. It might appear to be a confusing story but the emphasis is on the power of praying for another’s need. In the early church and today, this is seen as the work of the people of God, to pray for the world and the needs of others. Then we go beyond ourselves and our own interests, reaching out and opening up, rather than being closed in on ourselves.

Ask, and it will be given your search, and you will find; knock, and the door will be opened for you.
